

Hands free batching

Hands on profits

Our new IPL Batcher automatically loads pre-formed trays or thermoformers with individual product portions to produce fixed weight packs. Remarkably, more than one nominal pack weight in different tray sizes can be produced at the same time depending on production needs and incoming product size.

IPL (Intelligent Portion Loading) Batcher weighs incoming portions prior to deciding which tray/pack they will be loaded into. An advanced vision system determines product position and orientation, then, at the appropriate point, the relevant robot head transfers it to the final pack in the required style and the correct orientation.
